The Foulkeways Resident Assistance Fund was created to help ensure Foulkeways is able to provide continuing support for residents who have outlived their financial resources. Advances in medical care and increased longevity may mean that some residents could outlive their resources.

Ambler Savings Bank has been providing on-site banking services for residents, as well as employees, for the past five years at Foulkeways. Situated on 130 naturally landscaped acres, Foulkeways has been setting standards of excellence in retirement living since 1967. Guided by Quaker values, it is home to more than 400 residents.
