AMBLER – The Summer Reading Program at the Wissahickon Valley Public Library has become the point where science and reading meet in the summer. Because of a donation from Ambler Savings Bank, the Library was able to bring more children’s summer programming to their branches, as well as expand its programming to the Ambler Boys and Girls Club.

The $2,500 donation funded programming such as “Mad Science” events and the Franklin Institute at the Ambler branch.

“The Wissahickon Valley Public Library is an important destination for our children’s education through the summer,” said Roger Zacharia, Ambler Savings Bank President and CEO. “We are honored to partner with them and help fund summer programming at their branches and in the community.”

The Summer Reading Program this summer was themed “Libraries Rock” and featured events for all ages and interests, including Summer Reading parties, movie nights, and science-activity days. The program ran through August 11.
